

State Road Damage High From Winter

HARRISBURG (AP)—Damage to Pennsylvania roads from a severe winter pounding was more serious this year than usual, the State Highways Department said Tuesday.

A spokesman said it was impossible to say at this point how much money will be needed to repair some 1,600 miles of roadway, mostly in rural areas, affected by the bad weather.

A combination of heavy rains, frost leaving the ground and the melting and runoff of heavy March snows left holes and cracked less durable highways, maintenance chiefs in the department's 11 districts reported.

Highways Secretary Park H. Martin ordered work crews to correct the damages as soon as possible.

"Most of the counties should be in good shape by the end of next month but it probably will take a little longer to repair roads in areas which were more severely hit," a spokesman said.

Among the hardest hit were roads in District 1 where major repairs will be needed on 136 miles of roadway and District 2 where 360 miles will have to be repaired.

The damage was more severe in District 1 because of springtime floods. It includes Erie, Crawford, Venango, Lawrence, Mercer, Warren and Forest Counties. District 2 comprises the counties of McKean, Potter, Forest Counties. District 3 comprises the counties of McKean, Potter, Elk, Cameron, Clearfield, Centre, Clinton and Mifflin.

Case Beats Morris In New Jersey

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Liberal Republican Sen. Clifford P. Case fought off a conservative challenge with surprising ease to win renomination in New Jersey's primary election Tuesday. He will run for a second term against Democrat Thom Lord.

With 2,519 of 4,284 districts counted, Case held a lead of 117,252 to 69,558 over Robert Morris, former chief counsel for the U. S. Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Lord, a former U. S. district attorney, won his primary contest with expected ease over Richard M. Glassner, a 62-year-old Newark lawyer who offered only token opposition. Lord, backed by the entire state Democratic organization, led Glassner 79,108 to 12,855.

Morris got the support of the conservative segment of the Republican party but his main attack on Case charged the senator with abandoning the Eisenhower administration's fight against inflation.

Morris conceded his defeat at 11:13 p. m.

Ottaway Inc. Buys Paper In Middletown

PURCHASE of the Middletown, N. Y., Daily Record by Ottaway Newspapers-Radio, Inc., was announced yesterday by President James H. Ottaway.

Purchase price for the paper, pioneer in the offset cold-type process among daily newspapers, was not made public.

The Ottaway firm also owns the Middletown Times-Herald and the nearby Port Jervis, N. Y., Union-Gazette.

Ottaway said all three papers will continue publication. The Record is a morning paper while the Times-Herald and Union-Gazette are afternoon papers.

Other Ottaway holdings include The Daily Record; the Endicott Bulletin, Plattsburgh Press-Republican and Oneonta Star in New York and the Denbury-News-Times in Connecticut.

Radio stations owned by the firm include WVPO, Stroudsburg, and outlets in Oneonta and Endicott.

William C. Lundquist, general manager of the Times-Herald since last Fall, will assume the same post with the Record.

Howard J. Brown, former assistant to Ralph Ingersoll, publisher of the Times-Herald, will return as general manager of that paper.

Brown has been in Endicott since January as assistant to Lyndon R. Boyd, executive vice president of the Ottaway group.

Cramer Cites Low Cost

Shortway A Bargain, Automobile Club Told

"THE Keystone Shortway is the biggest highway bargain in the country," Clifford Cramer told the annual meeting of the Pocono Mountains Motor Club at the Penn-Stroud Hotel last night.

He said the superhighway can be built for only $850,000 a mile, considerably lower than the million-dollar-a-mile national average, for the entire 291 miles between Stroudsburg and Sharon.

This figure cuts to less than $250,000,000, of which Pennsylvania would pay only 10 percent and the Federal Government the remaining $225,000,000.

Cramer illustrated his report with a map showing the proposed Shortway route and gave a detailed description of the progress made to date in each area which the cross-state road will traverse.

He is chairman of the Monroe County Chapter of the Keystone Shortway Assn. and co-chairman of the highway committee of the Motor Club.

By-Pass, Penn-Can

The other co-chairman, Edward C. Jenkins, reported on the progress of two additional interstate highways which will serve the Poconos. He said the Wind Gap By-pass is scheduled to open around July 1 and that the next step will be the Saylorsburg-Stroudsburg highway, plans for which are now on the drawing board of the State Highways Department.

Jenkins also pointed out that considerable construction has been completed on the Penn-Can Highway in New York State and south as far as Scranton, and said the remaining portion from Scranton to the northern terminus of the Stroudsburgs Thruway is now in the design stage.

He predicted that the Crescent Lake interchange—where the Penn-Can and Shortway roads will intersect—will be one of the busiest interchanges in the entire country when the two roads are completed.

John M. Crandall, who presided, told the annual meeting that the club had gained 309 members in the last year and now has a total of 3,626 members, a record high.

He introduced Clement Heist, who is the new secretary-manager, and announced that the board of governors had unanimously voted a life membership to Mrs. Cynthia Watt, retiring secretary-manager, for her decade of dedicated service to the club.

President Re-elected

Crandall, who succeeded R. LeRoy Dengler as president last year, was reelected to a second one-year term.

Also named were eight board members for three-year terms: Elmer Christine and John Kitchen, both new members, and

The 1,700 m.p.h. is no record. The experimental X2 rocket plane hit better than 2,000 m.p.h. several years ago. The X15, with more powerful engines, is expected ultimately to fly 4,000 m.p.h. to heights of 100 miles or more.

President Crandall introduced a number of guests: Victor Cozsa, district engineer, State Highways Department; Frank Smith, Monroe County highways maintenance superintendent; Howard DeNike, instructor of driver education training at East Stroudsburg State College, and George Metropoulos, driver education teacher at Stroud Union High School.

Gerald Possinger, Daniel Warner and Nathan Kunkle comprised the nominating committee. Past President Dengler presided at the annual election. The treasurer's report was given by Frank LaBar.

Congressmen Are Invited To Visit Depressed Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Rules Committee members were invited Tuesday to visit Pennsylvania's depressed areas and determine for themselves whether the communities need federal help.

The invitation was extended by Rep. James E. Van Zandt, Altoona Republican, who told the committee that the affected Pennsylvania communities have done wonders in helping themselves to revive their economy but need further assistance.

"We have borrowed all we can from banks; we have gotten all the aid we can from the Small Business Administration," Van Zandt said at a rules committee hearing.

The need is for more investment capital to establish job-creating industries, he said, and added: "Something has to be done to help these communities further help themselves."

In his invitation to the committee members, Van Zandt said he is certain that airplane transportation could be arranged for a tour of the areas.

"Here you will find good Americans who helped build this country and who are now unemployed," said Van Zandt. "And you will find they resent some of the criticism heard here."

His plea to the committee was on behalf of a 251 million dollar area redevelopment bill that has been bottled up by the rules committee since last May.

State Labor Group Drops Two As Vice Presidents

HARRISBURG (AP)—Joseph A. McDonough, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, reported Tuesday that Theodore Cozza and John A. Durkin have been dropped as PFL vice presidents.

McDonough said the federation decided last fall that the two were ineligible to remain as vice presidents because of the expulsion of the Teamsters Union from the AFL-CIO in 1957.

Cozza is a member of Local 211 of the Newspaper Driver's Union in Pittsburgh. Durkin belongs to Local 220 of the General Truckers Union in Scranton.

"They had been elected from their respective districts. The butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker along with all the other crafts were the ones that elected them," McDonough said.

"The expulsion of the teamsters was complied with, but in view of the fact that as vice presidents of the PFL they had been elected from the Pittsburgh and Scranton areas by all crafts, their disassociation was held in abeyance," he added.

The PFL president said the two have not been invited to participate as officers since the October meeting of the federation. He said replacements would be selected at the June 6 convention of the PFL and CIO in Pittsburgh.

McDonough said the decision that the two were not eligible to continue as vice presidents had nothing to do with their personal activities.

Cozza was questioned by the Senate Rackets Committee on allegations that he ran a numbers racket from his office at a Pittsburgh newspaper.

An official of the newspaper testified Cozza was paid as a driver although he seldom worked. He said the paper had given him a European vacation and an expensive automobile to insure labor peace.

From The Voters

Politicos Hate Apathy

WASHINGTON (AP)—To a politician, the thing that hurts isn't so much the indignity heaped upon him by his opponent as the indifference he's buried under by the public.

This is a politically minded land, and to a foreigner politics sometimes seems to be our major recreation.

Yet this interest, as every politician knows, can be overestimated. The West Virginia primaries coming up May 10, for instance, could mean the death of presidential hopes for either Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) or Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn).

Yet a survey there last week showed that many voters had trouble remembering who was running. One man remembered Kennedy's name, but he thought

Negro Strike Test Fizzles

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A scheduled week's strike by Negroes against the white government's rigid racial laws failed Tuesday to meet its first real test. It fizzled under the watchful eyes of white police, soldiers and civilian militia, backed by armored cars.

Police reported from all major South African cities that Negroes turned up for work in normal numbers, unhindered by members of the outlawed African National Congress. The ANC called the stoppage in an attempt to force

Castro Says U.S. Similar To Fascism

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro was quoted Tuesday as saying he wants better relations with the United States, but professed to find some similarity between U. S. policies and those of Hitler and Mussolini.

The Cuban revolutionary leader, however, denied emphatically that he was the inspiration for a suggestion that he meet with President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Castro promised a major policy statement May 1, when he speaks to a rally here celebrating the day as International Workers' Day. He predicted the demonstration would show that Cuban people are united "in defense of the revolution."

Castro's statements were made in a second interview with correspondent Richard Bate of the Columbia Broadcasting System and published in the semiofficial newspaper Revolution. The interview was given, the paper said, to clarify what Castro claimed had been a misquotation of an earlier interview with Bate.

Castro seemed most anxious to say it was not he who had suggested a meeting with U. S. leaders, but that he had simply answered a question on that subject and that the North American news agencies, reporting this, "changed my words with every intent to discredit the Cuban government."

"I wish for improved relations with the United States, but I think that the United States is taking advantage of every opportunity to create confusion. And if there is anyone in the U. S. government who thinks he can defeat the Cuban revolution in this manner, he is mistaken," Revolution quoted Castro as saying.

Nashville Mayor For Ban Lift

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Thousands of Negroes marched to the office of Mayor Ben West shortly after noon Tuesday in dramatic protest against segregation—"and now a bombing."

The mayor met the group on the steps at City Hall and told their leaders in answer to questions that he personally thought it wrong to discriminate against anyone because of race.

"Do you recommend the merchants open their lunch counters to all citizens?" Miss Diane Nash, Negro student at Fisk University, asked.

"Yes," West replied. His answer was followed by cheering from the crowd, consisting mostly of Negro college and high school students.

his opponent was a fellow named Murphy.

It's curious that the better our communications, the more poorly we may be informed. With newspapers, radio, television, and news magazines to tempt eye and ear, how can anyone fail to keep moderately informed?

Possibly it's partly because we have become a nation of city dwellers with so much to entertain us. How many would go miles today to hear Lincoln debate Douglas? It's easier to go to a nearby drive-in, or to turn on TV and watch a Western.

In the port city of East London, about 400 Negroes, of 500 arrested Monday, were accused of being in an African settlement without permission. Most were fined about $2.80 each or sentenced to eight days in jail.

Justice Minister Francois Erasmus refused to tell Parliament the exact number of persons arrested under state of emergency powers proclaimed March 30. However, he said at least 422 Negroes have been arrested for failing to produce on demand the hated pass-books they are required to carry at all times. Talks Acknowledged—

Administration Will Drop FPC Commissioner In June

WASHINGTON (PA)—Commissioner William R. Connolly, of the Federal Power Commission, who has acknowledged backlogs talks with a natural gas company lawyer, reportedly is being dropped by the Eisenhower administration.

Congressional sources said Tuesday Connolly, 37, was told by the White House he would not be renominated for another five-year term on the FPC after his current term expires on June 22.

These sources said Connolly, a political independent from Connecticut, got the word before disclosure last month that he and other FPC members had off-the-record contacts with Thomas (Tommy) The Corks Corcoran, a former New Deal power now representing the Tennessee Gas Transmission Co.

Connolly and other FPC commissioners have denied any wrongdoing and have said their talks with Corcoran didn't influence their votes on the case involving his firm. The matter now is being explored by the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee, with public hearings set for May 2.

It was reported on Capitol Hill that President Eisenhower may name in Connolly's place Harold I. Baynton, a Democrat now serving as chief counsel of the Senate Commerce Committee.

The law specifies no more than three of the five commission members may be of the same political party. Three Republicans currently are members.

Connolly, who was appointed to the FPC by Eisenhower in 1955, declined comment on the reports. The vacation White House at Augusta, Ga., refused to confirm or deny those reports.

The Post-Dispatch pictured some Democrats as feeling, Connolly is being replaced because of votes said to have been in favor of consumers in several important natural gas cases. The story said the development might provoke a fight on Capitol Hill.

The House Rules Committee, its Southern leadership bowing to the inevitable, cleared the compromise bill for final consideration. If, as seems almost certain, the House votes to accept Senate changes, the legislation will go to President Eisenhower without further Senate or House consideration.

The committee voted 8-4 to send to the House a bill main provision of which is for court-appointed referees to act on complaints of voting rights denial because of race.

Based originally on an Eisenhower administration recommendation, the referee provision was hammered out in a series of compromises between Southerners and the bipartisan group seeking a tough civil rights law. The Senate added clauses specifying that its provisions could not override basic state qualifications for voting, and that the courts should set times and places for hearings.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will pay a political call on this north-central Pennsylvania region Wednesday to boost his college roommate's congressional campaign.

Pennsylvania GOP leaders view the Rockefeller appearance as only a friendly gesture for Williamsport auto dealer Herman T. Schneebeli. The two were roommates at Dartmouth.

Republican Schneebeli, 51, is opposed by Democrat Dean Fisher, 37, also of Williamsport, for the eighth-county 17th District seat left vacant last December of the death of Rep. Alvin R. Bush, a longtime GOP leader.

The special congressional election will be held in conjunction with the April 26 primary along with one for the neighboring 18th District seat left vacant by the death of Rep. Richard M. Simpson, head of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

Employers Encountering Difficulties With Form 941

R. P. BROWNELL, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Scranton District, stated that employers are encountering some difficulties with the new card Form 941, furnished them for reporting their Social Security and withholding taxes for the first quarter of 1960.
The new forms consist of a card for reporting the Social Security and withholding taxes due, and a separate Schedule A. Brownell asked that the taxpayers be certain that the name and address on the Form 941, as well as on the Schedule A, are correct.

Three Killed In Accidents

By The Associated Press
ONLY three persons died accidentally in Pennsylvania over the busy Easter weekend, the lowest recorded total in recent years.
All were highway victims. The previous low in this category for a two-day weekend measuring period was one on March 5-6. On that weekend there were three other accidental deaths for a total of four.
That matched the death toll on the April 4-5, 1959, weekend for the state's previous over-all low.

The victims:
Philadelphia — Jeffrey Toney, 32, of Philadelphia, killed Saturday when his car hit a pole.
Philadelphia — John Huculak, nine, hit by a car Saturday night near his home.
Dillsburg — Raymond Brown, 43, of Silver Springs, Md., a school principal, killed in a two-car head-on collision on Route 15, near the Adams-York county line. His wife and two daughters were injured.

Anti-Track Betting Group To Step Up Final Drive

PLANS FOR the final week's campaign were discussed at the third in a series of public meetings held by the Citizens Committee to Defeat Race-Track Gambling in Monroe County last night at the Y.M.C.A.

The publicity committee received approval to continue its public relations campaign in newspapers and by mail and was authorized to schedule spot radio announcements on Station WVFO, Stroudsburg.

The committee also approved an invitation from WVFO to send representatives to a public debate to be broadcast from the station. It has been tentatively scheduled for this weekend.

"We stand ready, willing, able and eager to discuss this issue on civic, economic or moral grounds in any public forum where those in favor of race-track gambling may wish to appear," a spokesman for the group said.

The organization also mapped a vigorous person-to-person get-out-the-vote campaign as the final phase of its drive to defeat the issue in next Tuesday's primary election.

SEVEN FIRE TOWERS stationed strategically throughout Monroe County are the first lines of defense against forest fires.

The towers are under the direction of District Forester E. F. McNamara, whose office is in Stroudsburg.

Three of the towers are operated by women.

Longest time of service among the women on the towers is held by Mrs. Esther Mottis, Tannersville, who mans — or womans — the Big Pocono tower, as she has 12 years.

Big Pocono tower is 22 feet off the ground and is at an elevation of 2,131 feet above sea level. The tower was built in 1921, and protects State Park land.

Among Six Women
Mrs. Armata Flyte, Portland, in charge of the Delaware Water Gap tower, is next among the girls with six years service.

The "Gap" tower is 47 feet in height and is 1,480 feet above sea level. It was built in 1921. The tower is protecting private land.

Mrs. Vennie Ladlee, of Bushkill, is in charge of the Dry Meadow tower, she has been directing it for three years.

This is one of the two highest towers, being 80 feet from the ground.

Its elevation above sea-level is 1,440 feet. It was built in 1935 and oversees private land.

Longest in length of service among the men is Harrison Slutter, of Pocono Lake, who mans Pohopoco tower, which is also 80 feet high.

Elevation of this tower above sea level is 2,213 feet, was built in 1934 and is on State Forest land.

Next comes Harry Repsher with four years, Harry, of Anamink, mans the Dancing Ridge tower, which is 60 feet above ground.

The tower was built in 1936, following the moving of the site. It is 1,340 feet above sea level and checks State Forest land.

Nitchie and his wife, Anna, 73, were admitted to Monroe County Hospital. He sustained a severe cut of the left leg and possible fractured ribs, while she suffered skull and leg injuries and bruises.

Allen was treated at the hospital for a cut of the left ear and bruises of the left back and released.

'Ten Nights In A Barroom'

Century-Old Play Is Still Aiding Stroudsburg Schools

MORE THAN a century ago, the play, "Ten Nights in a Barroom" was written.

Students in Stroudsburg schools have benefited no end from this temperance play. But every once in a while, school officials issue this plea—"Don't try to sell us a copy of the play."

The plea is made because a school teacher set up a trust fund requiring the local schools to keep copies of the famed play in their libraries.

Many a sob was wrung from the audience when Jim Morgan's little girl sat inside the swinging doors of Slade's Sickle and Sheaf Saloon and, on her knees, arms outstretched, pleaded with her father to come home.

Many A Sob
Timothy Shay wrote the story originally as a novel. It was published under the title, "Ten Nights in a Barroom and What I Saw There."

Arthur, born in 1809 in Newburgh, N. Y., went to Philadelphia in 1841 and wrote his novel there. It was published in 1854 and adapted into a play in 1858.

The play was a big hit in its day and had several revivals. Today it is usually performed as a comedy.

Temperance Weapon

A bigger success than the book, the play was picked up by temperance groups and used as propaganda. One man who was influenced by the message was Samuel Schoonover, a Monroe County school teacher.

And thus the tear-jerking tale came to this Pocono Mountain resort capital.

When Schoonover died in 1947, he bequeathed a $25,000 trust fund to provide the Stroudsburg schools with books and equipment.

The bequest was contingent on the school libraries stocking 10 copies of "Ten Nights in a Barroom."

Newspaper stories were written about the legacy in 1952. The book was out of print, but before long the Stroudsburg High School library was up to here in copies of the book.

"We got copies, letters and telegrams from Alaska, Asia, South America—we still get letters asking if we want to buy a copy," says Earl F. Groner, superintendent of Stroudsburg schools.

Keep Pouring In

"The last one I got was last week, saying the writer had seen an old newspaper article and asking if we still needed a copy."

"I have 100 copies now, and I sent that many back."

"We have our 10 copies and our legacy. We get $1,500 to $1,500 annually from it. It's been a very good thing."

"And believe it or not, the kids will look at 'Ten Nights in a Barroom.' I can't say they read it. It may be just a curiosity, but they look at it."

There is no finer way of preserving memories than by a monument of granite or marble.

Overspending Income

A survey by the Federal Reserve and the Institute of Life Insurance turns up some disquieting news about how the American people spent their personal income during 1959. As a matter of fact, they overspent it.

They made financial commitments which were eight billion dollars in excess of earnings.

Debts increased sharply to 21 billion dollars. This was 7.4 billion higher than in 1958 and reversed a trend which had actually been downward for three years.

With 21 billion in new debt, the American people racked up a credit of only 13 billion in long-term savings.

This was the lowest amount since 1953. So last year represented a period when we were buying more than we were paying for. It was the other way around in 1957 and 1958, for in those years the people paid off more debt than they created.

The picture for 1959 was not all black, however.

One reassuring feature is the fact that home mortgages account for much of what the Federal Reserve classifies as "personal debt." A lot of people, apparently, were going into debt in order to acquire homes which is a situation that tends to stabilize their future financial programs.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Bulging Warehouses

A report to Congress shows that the Government had on hand on January 31 $15,820,000,000 worth of surplus materials. Much of these were farm products bought, in defiance of sound economic laws, to keep them off the free market. The mere cost of storing them is a heavy added burden on the taxpayer.

But in addition to the agricultural commodities purchased to bolster up the price of what the consumer must buy, there is a huge stock-pile of materials necessary to the national defense which we do not immediately need, but which might become scarce if customary channels of trade were closed by war. Purchase of these commodities, in quantities actually necessary to meet an emergency is not only defensible, but sound policy.

The maintenance of stockpiles, however, is subject to abuse. The acquisition of added quantities is brought about by pressure politically applied, on occasion, for the benefit of the business of the sellers. There is good reason to believe that the Government has been reckless in condoning waste in stockpiling, and that it has not taken due account of the cost of storing necessities in quantities in excess of our probable needs.

Every now and then officialdom becomes aware of the existence of unneeded surpluses and offers them for sale. This is particularly true of military supplies. And clearing of the shelves of these is usually done at a fraction of their cost. The taxpayer takes a beating coming and going.

The Pennsylvania Story

Primary Complexities

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania's primary election — just one week hence — is destined to be the starting gun in this state of the fall campaign. Although the November general election is seven months away.

Rarely in recent years has there been such a compounding of complexities in a presidential year in Pennsylvania as those facing voters of the Keystone State this year.

And it can be said with equal emphasis that not in contemporary times have the two major political parties in this state reached the critical crossroads of ascendancy — or decline — toward which each is driving in this critical election year 1960.

When the dust has settled following the November election the guiding finger of fate insofar as Pennsylvania is concerned will point not at who is elected President, State Auditor General or State Treasurer — but at which party gains control of the State Legislature for next year's session.

State leaders of both parties here on Capitol Hill concede that within this lone and somewhat frail framework of legislative control rests a goodly portion of the future of "newly-in-power" Democrats and "sidetracked" Republicans.

A Democratic-controlled Legislature will open the gates for a run-away by the Democratic administration now in office.

A Republican-controlled Legislature unquestionably will throttle the present administration into virtual oblivion.

With the upcoming 1961 session of the Legislature rests the future of the two major political parties in Pennsylvania — and the ideologies propounded by each.

The primary campaign leading up to next week's balloting has been more in the form of shadow boxing than anything else.

Opposition to party-slanted candidates has been comparatively active and actually has been a warm-up or preparation for things to come in the general election campaign they shortly will face.

Although a primary election has as its exclusive role the selection of party candidates, considerable primary activity, curiously, centered much of the time between opposing parties and the candidates of opposing political faiths!

In some instances Democratic henchmen, in somewhat of an amusing aside, have endorsed some of the Republican candidates for office — that is, non-organization Republican candidates — which has thrown some of the more ganking leaders on both sides into a nettled huff.

A similar course has been followed, although perhaps in lesser degree, by some of the minor elements within the GOP leadership who have draped their mantle of support around some of the fledgling and scrapping Democratic candidates.

With most of us, that should decide us as to how we would vote. But it's understandable that those who selfishly think that one of these tracks will be to their profit, may make some extravagant statements to try to convince people to vote for them.

And one of these statements seems to be that our taxes will be reduced. Really, folks, that is ridiculous and you will say it is too if you will take time to know what really does accompany these race tracks.

Actually, the men who are now promoting this venture will conclude that although it might be temporarily a little benefit to their profit, in the "long run" it will positively ruin them.

And when they take time to investigate what has happened in other places where they have race tracks, they will decide that it is a mistake to allow a track to be established here for every one of us knows that we must work for and promote things that are going to be of benefit to the majority of our people, for the "long pull," and we must not favor things that seem to be profitable for a very small majority just for the present. And the fact is this project isn't going to be good even for this "short pull."

I do hope you will go to the polls on election day, Tuesday, April 26, and vote "No" on this race track issue.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Fighting Inflation

The savings banks are at long last meeting the problem of inflation by advertising against it. It has been slow going because the worst phase of inflation is the excessive debt, which has become a standard American habit.

The Federal Government is in debt; state and municipal governments are in debt; individuals are in debt. In fact, so much is debt encouraged that interest paid on private debt can be deducted as a business expense for income tax purposes.

The Bowers Savings Bank, one of the largest in the world, has been publishing full page advertisements against inflation. What this savings bank is advocating is that folks save their money and then buy what they want to buy for cash on hand. These advertisements particularly emphasize that financing costs are high. The Bowers Savings Bank summarizes its philosophy as follows:

"1. Ask the cash price, right at the start, of the article you are thinking about. Also add up the total of all the payments you will be required to make, including the down payment, if you purchased on time. The difference is the extra cost to you for buying on credit."

"2. With the facts straight, it's up to you to decide. Should you go ahead regardless, shop for the best financial plan you can find. Financing costs vary, as we have shown."

"3. Deal with responsible merchants and lending institutions. Even so, it's only fair to say that handling charge accounts or small loans is an expensive operation. Someone must pay for credit investigations, paper work, collection and other costs, inevitable losses."

And it establishes a well-known rule of economics:

"The true annual interest on a loan, large or small, that you pay off in equal periodical installments is roughly double the rate quoted as the yearly finance charge, deducted in advance. This is true, no matter how much or little the quoted rate may be."

What is important in this discussion is not that we stop buying on credit, but that the borrower should know exactly what he is doing. In a word, excessive debt can lead to disaster, both individually and nationally.

There is another side to this picture. When a nation's currency is depreciating in value, it is sounder to buy things to hold on to cash. Thus, life insurance policies, government bonds and savings are imperiled by inflation because it reduces the value of currency. When currency loses value, the whole people is impoverished.

Those who own money under such conditions, whether in this or any other country, invest their money in commodities of intrinsic value such as diamonds, paintings, antique furniture, or they ship their money to foreign countries for investment or savings.

At present, for instance, it is less difficult to borrow money in many foreign countries than in the United States and medium-type businesses are taking full advantage of such an opportunity. Sometimes what they borrow is money the United States deposited in foreign lands for economic aid that has, in time, worked itself into a form of banking that indirectly becomes aid for American businessmen.

The advertisement, full page, of the Bowers Savings Bank means much more than appears on the surface. Obviously, if folks spend more than they earn, they will always be in debt. If they are paying usurious interest rates, and 18 percent a year is usury in any language, the inflation is already beyond control. The Bowers Savings Bank advertisement says this:

"In another widely used financing plan the charge might be 1 1/2% a month, computed on the unpaid balance."

"That's a true interest, but it's monthly interest, and 1 1/2% a month is 18% a year . . . 2% monthly is 24% yearly, and 2 1/2% monthly is 30% yearly."

Such rates are unconscionable and ought not to be allowed, no matter whether they keep goods moving or not. Our first problem is to save the value of our currency. A money-lender who would charge such rates would be called a Shylock. But is a finance company more privileged? Why?

Inflation is a frightful curse. It robs each individual who purchases goods. It also robs even if the goods are not purchased. It can only help the very rich who can cover their losses by various devices; the rest must suffer from it. The savings banks advertisements are the first realistic attack on inflation.

News From The Realm Of Stamps

By Ray Patton

Nari on postage stamps: Until a collector begins to look at a postage stamp as more than a space filler, he is missing a wonderful, exciting experience which philately has to offer.

As Sven Ewert, the noted Swedish designer-engraver, once said before his untimely death in 1959 "If some postage stamps were offered in galleries instead of at the postoffice, a number of connoisseurs would pay much more for them as miniatures of art masterpieces than do collectors as additions to their albums."

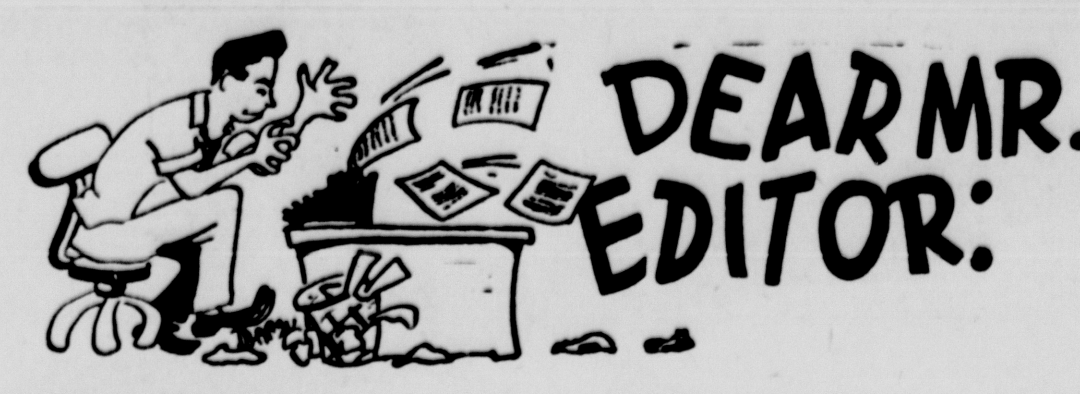

When stamps were introduced, Sir Rowland Hill considered the postal "label" solely as an item that would serve its postal purposes. His chief concern was not beauty, but utility and the necessity of making the stamp proof against counterfeiting.

Utility demands that only two factors be present in any stamp design: the name of the country and the denomination of value, but as more and more stamps were issued designers went far afield in creating layouts. When postal administrations are aware of the artistic way in which stamps can be planned, without sacrificing their postal requirements, we get truly beautiful stamps.

When they are not aware of this, some of the stamps we see have been monstrosities. Many countries have issued stamps showing part of, and in some cases the entire, paintings of the "Old Masters." On some issues the countries have pictured famous artists, for example, France pictured Rembrandt and Michelangelo, Italy — Leonardo Da Vinci etc.

Many countries reproduce famous paintings on their stamps, to maintain only a few: Argentina—"Jesus" by Da Vinci; "Pieta" by Michelangelo; Vatican City—"Annunciation" by Da Vinci; Italy—"Self Portrait" by Giovanni Fattori; Germany—"Mona Lisa" by Da Vinci; "Self Portrait with Saskia" by Rembrandt; "Sistine Madonna" by Raphael; Costa Rica — "Boy with a Club Foot" by Ribera and "Boy blowing on Charcoal" by El Greco, and many more.

Thus one can have a collection of art masterpieces, in miniature, on postage stamps. The Monroe Stamp Club will meet tonight at 8 at 36 Club Court, Stroudsburg.

Barrett's Problem

Dear Mr. Editor:

Regarding Barrett Township's recent teenage dilemma and the disheartening incident which "knocked the pins" from under our citizens, I should like to add some food for thought concerning the subject.

As the parent of a Barrett teenager myself, I am aware of the problems which parents face during these critical years, and know how difficult it is at times to demand obedience from them at this age.

I sympathize with the parents of the children involved in this "gang" organization, for surely it must be a great disappointment for them as well as a blow to their parental pride. The effect of their offspring's carelessness will serve to punish them just as the guilty children must be punished.

In one respect, however, this incident is one of the best things that could have happened to Barrett. If it serves to awaken the community to the gradual degradation which has been affecting our youths, the sufferings of these few people will have been well justified.

I don't blame Mr. Melinkoff in his efforts to interest the people in a new recreation center for our children and adults. Generally speaking, a program of this type, if properly conducted, would have some advantages.

But the implication that the building of such a center would solve the question of criminal behavior amongst teenagers is misleading. We could build a million dollar establishment and still have the same condition.

Why? Because too many children are allowed to run free, too many parents are of the opinion that their children can do no wrong, too many are too preoccupied with their own responsibilities to bother to check on the whereabouts of their youngsters.

Already we have a YMCA, a roller rink, bowling alley and numerous school, church and community functions. Do they keep them out of mischief?

As a matter of fact, on the basis of the behavior I have seen exhibited by some of these youngsters at the existing recreational centers, I am convinced that the source of the trouble lies far deeper than merely "a need for something to do." Many of these youngsters use our recreational centers as an avenue of escape.

Once out of their parents' sight they are free to run loose all over the community, and their parents neither know nor care where they are or what they are doing. On my first experience as a chaplain at the Barrett Y last summer, I was amazed to see the number of children who came and left at random, apparently free to do as they pleased.

Can it be that parents feel that their teenagers 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16 years old are adult enough, that they need no guidance, no discipline? They are either blind or stupid, or perhaps they prefer to shut their eyes to the need of discipline because it's the easiest way out.

Blaming the recent shocking development on the lack of "something to do" actually is the easy way of "side-stepping" the issue. It is covering up for the people who are personally and solely responsible for their behavior — you and I as parents, the teachers, educational advisers, the church as a foundation for moral standards.

All three must work together for one single purpose — that of molding and shaping the character and nourishing the minds of these children into healthy, useful and successful individuals. Only through mutual cooperation can we hope to help our children, and nothing is to be gained by pulling off in opposite directions as we have done in the past.

Discipline is needed so badly at home and in school. So often we find parents coming to their child's rescue with a "Don't you touch my child" attitude when the teacher feels punishment is necessary.

As a result the teachers are reluctant to advise the parents of unpleasant facts concerning their children and their faults continue to grow where they could be "nipped in the bud" if the truth were known in the beginning.

Scandals which involve our school children should be aired in PTA meetings so that all parents of all the children know what is going on and can take measures to cope with the problems. Too many times, for the sake of ethics and for the protection of the children and parents involved, many of these incidents are hushed up. How can we hope to correct these conditions if the truth is not known?

We, as parents, must stop being so possessive about our children and should treat our teachers as though they were foster parents, giving them complete authority to discipline our children without interfering.

Parental disapproval of teacher authority is not good. It tends to give the child an edge over the teacher and he is smug in his knowledge that he can do as he pleases in school and get away with it. It's not just a matter of two parents pulling together in the interest of the child, but a matter of mother, father and teacher in close cooperation and understanding.

To be sure, children need a certain amount of play and entertainment to provide outlets and lead normal lives. It is essential from the time of infancy throughout grade school.

But, as they grow, their interests should gradually be diverted from play and replaced by useful hobbies and chores, so that by the time they are teenagers they have become aware of the fact that more is expected of them — that the world doesn't owe them a perpetual playground of fun.

They should begin to feel an obligation to assist their parents with a contribution of good honest work — to lighten the burden their parents have carried so long in providing for them.

How many high school children are taught to wash cars, mow lawns, clean cellars, cook, do household chores? Give them some of these things to do and they won't have so much leisure time to become restless.

Teachers too are delinquent in the character development of our youths. Teachers who air their pet grievances to the students — their personal grudges against their superiors — tend to contaminate the students' minds with disrespect toward these persons.

Some of our teachers have become so preoccupied with a salary persecution complex that they are determined to limit their teaching only to what they are paid to do. Thus, the incentive to work in the interest of the child is lost and his job is carried out only so far as is necessary to collect his salary.

Neither parents nor teachers are faithful in attending the PTA sessions. Some parents feel that nothing is ever accomplished in the PTA meetings, they are too busy, too disinterested. Some teachers feel the same way, and not being paid to come out, their time is wasted.

Extra-curricular activities sponsored by the school and presented by the children are poorly attended by the teachers, even to the point where supervision is needed. Recently at a grade school gym exhibition where the children needed supervision some of the high school girls took charge of them.

The parents were attending the program in the auditorium and the teachers, you see, were not paid to come out to supervise. Neither parents or teachers seem willing to go out of their way to do more than just what is necessary.

The parents provide the essentials of life, their food, clothing, shelter. The teachers provide the education which develops their intelligence. But what about the important elements which build good citizenship, clean character, honesty, love, willingness, charity, humility? These things are left merely to "rub off" on the children from the environment surrounding them which isn't always so pleasant.

The church could and would contribute a great deal toward this task were the parents not too busy to send their children there. But the church could not do it alone — these things must be taught to our children through the efforts of both parents, teachers and church.

These values must be so well taught that, by the time they are teenagers, there will be no question as to what is right and what is wrong.

The children involved in this delinquency were old enough to know better. They should not be properly punished in the hope that both they, their parents, and the parents and advisers of all our Barrett children may profit by their experience.

Naturally, a good environment is necessary to the growth of our youth, but until children reach adult maturity there will always be the quest for adventure and the need for parental alertness and guidance. We dare not turn them free to run without supervision at these critical ages.

Yes, Mr. Editor, Barrett could use a recreational center, expertly supervised, constructively built within the means of the working class of people. A conservative program for an adequate outdoor pool and recreation center possibly would be acceptable to the majority of township citizens, but there are many who feel as I do, that the idea of an indoor-outdoor pool is too rich for our blood.

Barrett Township is divided into two separate classes of people — the summer trade who consist mostly of well-to-do property owners — and the working class, who are established year-round residents. It is this average working class of people who send their children to school at Barrett.

We are not wealthy in any respect. A few of us live a little better than average, but there are many more who find it a real struggle to make ends meet. Many home owners are laborers working for a meager $1.00 to $1.65 per hour wage.

Some of them are jobless in the winter time, but still must maintain their homes and raise their children. We, the average working class, must sweat under the burden of a false reputation for being a rich community. We are falsely labeled because of the many valuable summer homes which are maintained in our area and the well-to-do resort establishments, all of which tend to raise our township's property value and assessment. Without a doubt, an extravagant plan for the best playground facilities could be well afforded by these people, but would be an added burden to the working class.

But regardless whether we build a pool and playground for our youngsters, or not, we must face the fact that it is not going to create any miracles in teenage behavior.

Until we as parents begin to exercise our authority over our children, until we place a reasonable restriction on their freedom, until we stop giving them everything they want in life without first earning it, our children will continue to be restless, and added temptations provided for their entertainment, no matter how well meant, will only serve to defeat our purpose.

I believe I convey the feelings of most of our Barrett parents in expressing my gratitude to Mr. Harry Campbell, our township police officer, for his alertness in discovering this condition regarding the teenagers.

His interest in the welfare of our children is commendable. I hope that someday these youngsters show their gratitude by becoming fine citizens. I hope they realize that this devotion to his job was fundamental in changing the course of their lives.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

There may be such a thing as having too many honorary aunts. Anyway, Cynthia Watt was getting an awful lot of offers from the guests at the surprise baby shower the other day, I understand.

Seems most of the guests haven't been to a baby shower for quite some years and they got so entranced with all the new things that have come out since they had their own babies that they were volunteering to baby sit by the hordes.

What they really want to do is try out those bath towels with hoods, or the new diaper shirt with its matching rubber pants. If Cynthia were smart she'd sign some of them up for New Year's Eve before the excitement wears off.

However, I understand that when it came time to tie the ribbons together to pass around to see who would have the next baby there was a hasty exodus of women who suddenly discovered they had pressing business elsewhere and that they wouldn't settle down until the ribbons had been safely made into a bouquet.

Anyway it was a big day for Cynthia who also was honored at the Automobile Club dinner last night. Matter of fact, the Penn-Stroud began to look like Grand Central station for a while with the AAA coming and going and meetings all over the place.

FASHIONS ARE IN FASHION

Come Spring, watch your step — your fashions are showing! While you could get away with a shabby dress under a Winter coat, the breaks are now against you. There's nothing to hide your attire... and the very thought is maddening. Somehow it's difficult in the Spring to turn back 12 months to last year's dresses (even presuming you're lucky enough to have some.) This isn't so true of Summer dresses, for some strange reason... unless it's because everything is so very new, bright, and gay from mid-March to mid-June it's difficult to reconcile oneself then to attire that's lost some of its first joyous zip and zang.

Women are not the only ones who feel this way, believe me! Even the men follow the fashion news... and they too enjoy trying new colors, and new styles. Dottie Sturdevant, during an hour at our Wyckoff switchboard, called my attention to the new Sears catalogue in which the men's slacks and shirts are gayer than any I'd seen before. One shirt, for instance, looks all the world like a woman's blouse... except that it is entirely open in the front, and tied at the waist in front. I don't like it, to tell the truth, and I am sure I'd not care for the man who wore it (I like the tweedy, more manly type myself) but I was delighted at least to see that masculine garb is becoming more colorful and imaginative.

The men are also gobbling up Olive and Gold, as advertised and displayed by Wyckoff's. THIS I approve. These colors, either separate or combined, are rugged and handsome. Particularly do I admire the gold terry pullover in the center of the front window. NOW THERE'S A MAN, would be my reaction to its wearer.

But to get back to women and fashions—the great interest of the feminine gender in smartness is reflected in an ever-increasing number of fashion shows. Tonight, for instance, there will be a show of Wyckoff fashions under auspices of the Altar and Rosary Society at St. Matthew's auditorium, East Stroudsburg. Come if you can!

Then, on Friday and Saturday in our store, we will be entertaining Miss Willa Ann Greenhouse, Simplicity stylist, who will conduct fashion shows at 3:30 and 7 o'clock on Friday and 2 p.m. Saturday. These will take place in our fabrics department, with Miss Greenhouse showing dresses and casual wear made from Simplicity patterns, and will answer questions on all phases of cutting and sewing. Another Simplicity show, with dresses, direct from the pattern company, will be conducted in our store Monday evening, April 25th, at 8 o'clock for 4-H girls, their mothers, home economic students, teachers, and guests.

Objects To Mixed Class

Dear Abby: In your opinion do you think the "Facts of Life" should be taught to boys and girls together in the same classroom?

Maybe I am a old-fashioned, Abby, but I am a senior girl and it embarrasses me to sit there and have the teacher point out the reproductive organs on a big chart with boys in the room. Believe me I don't think there is anything dirty about the human body or reproduction but there are certain laws of nature that girls should learn with girls and boys should learn with boys. If I had my way I would walk out of the classroom and take an F, but I want to graduate. Does anyone else feel the way I do, I wonder?

MODIST GIRL

Dear Modest: I do.

2nd In Series Good Tips On Fertilizing Your Lawn

By Robert Stauffer (Asst. County Agent)

ALTHOUGH many home owners use the same fertilizer for their lawns that farmers use for oats, corn, and potatoes, perhaps it would be well to consider others. Not that your lawn won't respond to the old stand-by 5-10-10, but it is a fact that better turf fertilizers are on the market.

Fertilizers can be placed into two classes — organic and inorganic. Farmers use inorganic such as 5-10-10. This fertilizer is readily available to plants. An organic fertilizer is different in that the nitrogen content is slowly available to plants.

This is an advantage for lawns because two applications make food available for most of the growing season. Examples of organic fertilizers are plant tankage, sewerage sludge and cotton seed meal.

Turf grasses, well fertilized in the Spring, will enter the climatic conditions of Summer in a vigorous, healthy condition. This will enable the grass to better withstand the heat, drought and disease which confronts it during the Summer months.

10-6-4 A Natural

Research has given one of the better turf fertilizers — 10-6-4 with an organic carrier. This is a combination of organic and inorganic fertilizers and combines the advantages of both.

Quick initial response, plus a carry over for the Summer months are the factors that make this a fine turf fertilizer.

A good time to fertilize is late April or early May and again in early September. A general recommendation is 20 pounds of 10-6-4 fertilizer per 1,000 square feet of lawn area applied Spring and Fall. While 20 pounds of 10-6-4 will do wonders for most lawns this year's fertilization program should be related to last year's program.

For instance, if you did use a complete fertilizer such as 10-6-4 last Fall and plan to use some again this September, a nitrogen fertilizer may be applied this Spring. If this is the case, try using 40 pounds of one of the organic fertilizers previously mentioned for every 1,000 square feet. However, each individual lawn varies in needs and I'd be happy to discuss your lawn program with you.

Remember to apply fertilizer to turf and water it after application. This gives good insurance against burning.

A complete soil analysis is available at Penn State at a cost of $1.00, may be an answer for you if you have any specific problems that seem to be related to soil conditions.

Dear Abby: The letter in your column signed "Hurt" is my case exactly — only just the opposite.

I am the younger daughter, 15, and my sister is 22 and married. She has a husband to support her, but my mother is always buying her things. Clothes and stuff for her kids and things for her house. I don't see why my mother has to buy her anything any more. After all, she doesn't live here. When I ask my mother for a new dress or pair of shoes she says I have plenty. You know, Abby, a girl can always use another skirt or blouse or pair of shoes. Do you think it is fair of my mother to buy my married sister things when I could use more?

ALSO HURT

Dear Also Hurt: How much is "plenty" — and who can't use "more"? Your sister is your mother's daughter — married or single, so unless you are actually going barefoot or doing without, don't complain.

Dear Abby: This may be the silliest letter you ever received but I am writing to you because I don't know where else to inquire.

A friend of mine bet me five dollars that Florence Chadwick swam the English Channel without a swim suit on. He claims all they did was grease her, but otherwise she was naked. Will you please find out for me?

KATHY

Dear Kathy: I have covered all the reports of Florence Chadwick's historic swim, but I don't know what covered Florence. If your friend is correct, it was one slippery detail that escaped notice.

League Of Women Voters Under 'Stroudsburgs' Label

A CHANGE in the name of the organization from League of Women Voters of East Stroudsburg to League of Women Voters of the Stroudsburgs was announced at the annual dinner of the organization Monday at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Mrs. Jovann DeRocco, local president, said she had received a telephone call only a few hours before the meeting from Mrs. Norman Patton of the Wilkes-Barre office of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters approving the name change.

The approval was based on the state organization's judgment of the depth of the studies done by the local group in both boroughs.

The group approved an agenda prepared by Mrs. Robert Nichols, current agenda chairman, which includes a continuing study of consolidation of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg and undertaking a study of zoning as it applies to both boroughs.

New Officers

New officers elected include Mrs. Clyde Burke, second vice president and chairman of public relations and Miss Mary Kistler, reelected to a two-year term as treasurer.

New members of the board are Mrs. H. W. Goldstein, voters' service committee chairman, and Mrs. George Levin, bulletin chairman.

New members welcomed included Mrs. Elmer Christine, Mrs. Karlene Muddell, Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Jeannette Batory and Mrs. Robert James. Mrs. James, now a resident of Stroudsburg, was one of three women who originated a chapter of the league in Reading in 1922.

Guest at the meeting was Mrs. John Svenson Jr., state chairman of voters' service and advisor to the local league.

Ernest H. Wyckoff spoke on his recent trip to Russia, particularly contrasting the status of Russian women and children with those in this country.

Named to the nominating committee were Mrs. John Baymore, chairman, Mrs. Fred W. Davis and Mrs. Charles Fisher.

Birthdays Run In Pairs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Birthdays run in pairs at the Gartner household.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Gartner of Pittsburgh had their fourth child—James Fred—last April 7th at St. Francis Hospital.

Three years ago, on the same date, Sharon Ann Gartner was born, in the same hospital.

And if that isn't enough, Suzan Gartner arrived on the scene on March 19, 1954, and David Gartner was born one year later — on March 19th.

"When Suzan and David celebrated their birthdays together, Sharon felt left out," laughed Mrs. Gartner yesterday. "This sort of evened things up."

Maris Bombs Two Homers

Yankees Club Boston For 17 Hits And Win

BOSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees, able to solve Boston hurling for only seven hits in three pre-season exhibitions, racked Red Sox pitching for 17 hits Tuesday and an 8-4 triumph.

Roger Maris, a New York new-comer, was the big batsman in this opening game of the season for the New Yorkers. He belted two 400-foot plus home runs and drove home half of the Yankee tallies. Maris also contributed a double and single to the Yankee attack.

All was not lost for the 35.162 home fans who attended the Boston home opener as Ted Williams lined a homer into the stands for Boston's third run.

It was the aging star's second in as many days and the 49th of his career. Williams now is fourth in the majors in hitting home runs, one ahead of the late Lou Gehrig. Babe Ruth's 714 is tops.

Minoso Belts Two Homers As Sox Win

CHICAGO (AP)—After hitting a grand slam homer in the fourth, Minnie Minoso belted a leadoff homer in the ninth to break a 9-9 League Champion Chicago White Sox a 10-9 opening day victory over the Kansas City A's.

A record Comiskey Park opening day crowd of 41,661 saw the wild and woolly opener in which the White Sox blew an early 9-2 lead and then had their sixth pitcher, Ray Moore, save the game with one pitch in the ninth inning with the bases loaded.

Score Early

The jittery A's yielded five unearned runs in the first two innings and then ex-Cleveland outfielder Minnie Minoso celebrated his return to the White Sox with his base-clearing wallop over the 415-foot center field mark in the fourth inning.

Minoso's decisive homer in the ninth after the A's scored two runs to tie the score at 9-9 was a shot into upper left center field stands above the 375-foot mark.

Kaline's Hit Beats Tribe For Tigers

CLEVELAND (AP)—A two-run single by Al Kaline in the 15th inning gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians before an opening-day crowd of 52,756 Tuesday at Municipal Stadium.

The loser was Jim Grant, the third of five Indian pitchers, who left with two men on base and one out in the 15th after pitching 3 1/3 innings in relief. The winner was Pete Burnside, the third Detroit pitcher, who hurled the last four innings.

Tuesday's crowd was the largest for a season's opener here since 1953. Most of the fans still were in the stands at the end of the game, which went 4 hours 54 minutes.

Lone Hit

Kaline's game-winning single to center field was his only hit of the game. It was off Bob Tienfauer, the last Indian hurler. Burnside walked to open the 15th, Eddie Yost was out on a fly to center and Red Wilson then hit a double to left field, sending Burnside to third. Grant was replaced by Johnny Klippstein, who walked the first batter he faced and was lifted for Tienfauer. Kaline hit Tienfauer's second pitch, scoring Burnside and Wilson. Rocky Colavito hit into a double play to retire the side.

Finn Wins Boston Marathon In Near-Record Clocking

BOSTON (AP)—Powerful Paavo Kotila of the Flying Finns pulled away from the field Tuesday and mechanically strode to a near-record win in the 64th Boston A.A. Marathon.

Clocked in 2:20:54, Kotila was nearly 500 yards ahead of the surprising Gordon McKenzie of the New York Pioneer Club in this first of two Olympic qualifying events for U.S. runners. McKenzie was clocked in 2:22:18.

For Kotila, 32-year-old farmer from the northern Finland village of Veteli, it was a double-edged triumph as he crossed the tape only 49 seconds slower than the approved course record set by America's Johnny Kelley in 1957. Kelley did not finish Tuesday, though he was favored.

Last Race

Later Kelley told newsmen "This was my last race." Asked why, he said "I believe the reasons are obvious."

The victory was the fourth for a representative of Finland in

Birds Beat Nats

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gene Woodling, the oldest pro among a flock of Oriole fledglings, battled Baltimore to victory Tuesday with a run-scoring double in the seventh inning to edge the Washington Senators 3-2.

Woodling's first hit of his 15th season as a leaguer scored Jackie Brandt all the way from first base. Brandt had drawn the only unintentional walk from Washington pitcher Pedro Ramos.

The Score

Third baseman Brooks Robinson tied the score at 2-2 in the fourth inning with a homer into the left field stands, and it was Woodling who scored in front of him.

Two former Orioles, second baseman Billy Gardner and centerfielder Lenny Green, put the Senators in front with a run in the third inning on back-to-back triples.

Phillies Top Pirates, 4-3 Behind Owens

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Jim Owens gave up only three hits—one a three-run homer—in pitching the Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday night.

Owens, starting his first game of the season, struck out nine and walked two. He fanned first baseman Dick Stuart three times.

The only time the Pirates gave Owens any trouble was in the third when they got three runs on Bob Skinner's home run into the right center field stands, his second of the year. Skinner scored behind Don Hoak, who reached first when Ted Lepcio fumbled his ground-er, and Dick Groat, who had singled.

The only other hit off Owens was in the sixth when Roberto Clements led off with a single. Philadelphia

Winnie Sees Horse Win

EPSON, England (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill saw his colt Vienna win the Blue Riband Trial Stakes Tuesday—and even the tough horse racing crowd melted into sentimentality.

It was one of the first times this year that the 85-year-old wartime British leader had been to the races.

Vienna won $17,043.

FINAL PRACTICE—Lou Murdock, Warrior hurdler, gets in a final workout yesterday for the opening track meet with Montclair at Normal Hill today at 4 p.m. Murdock runs both the high and low hurdles. (Staff Photo by Prins)

DeNike Begins 30th Season

EAST Stroudsburg State College, its practice sessions shortened by poor weather, opens its track season today at Normal Hill against Montclair.

The Warriors, with only eight returning lettermen, are strong in the dashes, weak in the field events and except for Ray Kressler, don't figure to score too heavily in the mile and two-mile runs.

The late snows and a soggy track have limited the Warrior thinclads to barely more than three weeks of practice.

Begins 30th Year

Coach Howard DeNike, who is beginning his 30th season, will have to bank heavily on Art Wilson in the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes.

Wilson turned in the best marks in all three events in time trials. He ran the century in 10.5 seconds, the 220 in 22.9 seconds.

Wilson will be backed up in the sprints by Joe Symms, and Lou Murdock. Simms, a half-back on the football team also broad jumps, while Murdock is

Title Pact Signing To Be Thursday

NEW YORK (AP)—The final obstacle to the return heavyweight title bout between Champion Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson was removed Tuesday and the fighters will sign the contract at 10 a.m. (EST) Thursday.

For a time Tuesday a storm brewed over the time of the signing of the June 20 fight. The New York State Athletic Commission set the Thursday date, but Johansson said he had come here for a Wednesday signing.

Ingo Miffed

"It will be Wednesday," Ingemar said bluntly, obviously perturbed that his plans to be in Switzerland Wednesday night were periled.

The signing of the contract, with the document in Swedish, was tentatively approved Tuesday by the commission and the attorney general.

FLYING HIGH—Russ Hopewell, East Stroudsburg State College high jumper, doesn't show the best form possible, but he still gets the job done. Besides high jumping, the versatile sophomore also broad jumps and runs the 440-yard dash.

The top entry in the 120-yard high hurdles and 220-yard low hurdles.

Hopewell Paces Jumpers

Russ Hopewell, the All-State College basketball player, will work in the 440-yard dash, broad jump and high jump.

Hopewell turned in a leap of 20-feet, seven-inches in the broad jump last year. Although he has high jumped only twice in practice this season, he cleared five-feet, 10-inches yesterday. Hopewell uses an unorthodox modified scissors style.

John Gudikunski backs up Hopewell in the event.

The top pole vaulter on the club is Carl Hoppe, while Bill Smith paced the shot put trials with a 38 feet, nine-inch heave.

Kressler, one of the smallest men on the team, does not possess a great deal of speed or a blistering closing kick but he paces himself well and doesn't burn out easily.

The javelin top spot belongs to Lynn Schweitzer, while Frank Gibson gets the nod in the discus.

Accuracy, Distance Are Secret

What makes Snead so great, Martin was asked.

"Many of the pros can drive the ball a long way but they spray the ball," Martin answered. "Snead gets tremendous distance and still retains his accuracy. That's what makes him great."

Does Martin think Snead is over the hump?

"He's playing as good now as when he was in his twenties and he's more accurate," Martin said. "He's almost 47 but when he's 60 he'll still be playing championship golf."

Martin paused to answer a guest who wanted to know what hole Snead was on.

"You know they say that Sam can't putt," Martin offered, "but a man who scores in the sixties as much as Sam does must be a good putter."

For the 23 years Martin has felt that every time Snead stepped on a course he would break 60. "He was the pro that brought the game out of the seventies into the sixties," says Martin, "so it was just a matter of time before he hit the fifties."

Asked what he meant by bringing the game out of the seventies, Martin explained:

"Well, other players before Sam managed to break 70, but he was the first one to do it consistently."

Martin recalls a match two years ago when Snead had a chance to break 60 on the Old White course.

"Of course, it was just a friendly match," says Freddy, "and Sam needed an 18-foot putt for a 58. He missed the putt and three-putted for a 60."

Marr Has Swing Like Snead's

Among the younger players on the tour, Martin believes that 25-year-old Dave Marr has the swing that resembles Snead's the closest. "Frank Boynton looks like a fine player too," says Martin.

Out on the 18th green Snead had just finished with a 63 and Martin stood up to watch as reporters crowded around him. "I'd like to go down and shake his hand," Martin said, "but I hurt my back a few years ago and I can't get down that hill anymore."

Asked why Snead sometimes was so short-tempered with reporters and photographers, Martin replied:

"Most of those stories about Snead and reporters are exaggerated. Sure he gets mad when he has a bad round but that's normal. Basically he's the same hillbilly that came here 23 years ago."

Martin moved to the door to congratulate Snead and when Sam saw him, he threw his arms around Martin's shoulder and shook his hand vigorously.

It was easy to see that the supposedly gruff Snead felt a genuine affection for the man who discovered him almost a quarter century ago.

Delaware Navigable To Hancock

THE DELAWARE River is considered as part of the navigable waters of the United States, but Lake Wallenpaupack is not.

That was the word received yesterday by Fred H. Rhodes, Stroudsburg postmaster, in reply to a query addressed to the U. S. Coast Guard.

The Delaware is considered navigable as far as Hancock, N. Y., according to Rear Adm. H. C. Perkins, commander of the Third Coast Guard District. Wallenpaupack is not considered to be navigable "inasmuch as it is contained by a dam which makes connection with the tributaries of the Delaware River impossible," Perkins wrote.

Mrs. Sox said the local group gave fifty dollars to Blue Mountain Academy this month, for the auditorium project.

Exams Start Oct. 1 For Old Drivers

HARRISBURG (AP)—Physical examinations of the oldest group of Pennsylvania drivers start Oct. 1, the state's highway safety commissioner said Tuesday.

Similar examinations of all new applicants for licenses is expected to begin June 1 as planned, added O. D. Shipley.

Shipley made the disclosure after Rep. Albert W. Johnson, House Republican floor leader, mentioned the dates in a letter to Republican House members.

Shipley also confirmed Johnson's report that state police will not be given the responsibility of checking drivers for shortness of breath and neurological disorders as originally planned. The applicant's physician now will be responsible for this check, Shipley said.

Raised Objection
Johnson's office had raised objection to state policemen's qualifications for checking these items in a letter last month discussing Gov. David L. Lawrence's highway safety program as a campaign issue.

The two items are among 10 to be checked in determining a driver's fitness to drive when the program of physical examinations and reexaminations goes into effect. Some 200,000 drivers licensed prior to 1924 are to be given physical exams under the Oct. 1 schedule. That was the year the state began giving drivers tests to qualify for licenses. A physical examination has never been a requirement, however, except for an eye check.

Those licensed subsequent to 1924 are to be examined starting with the 1962 licensing period.

Eventually, under the Lawrence plan, drivers will have to take periodic physical examinations about every 10 years.

Key Part
The physical examinations are a key part of the governor's 13-phase highway safety program which was announced Feb. 2.

Other parts — so-called "fix-proof" traffic tickets for use by state police, revised system of license suspensions and a safety campaign for drivers of state-owned vehicles — already have been started.

Another phase, annual conferences of persons interested in the field of highway safety, will start Wednesday. Some 1,800 persons are expected to attend the one-day session.

Shipley, meanwhile, said he agreed with Johnson that provisional licenses should be used for 16 and 17-year-old drivers. Johnson said in his letter that this "should be a goal for the next session of the Legislature."

Such a bill passed the Senate in 1959 but died in the House.

Flood Control Aided By Verdict

HARRISBURG (AP)—A State Supreme Court decision on mineral rights to state-owned land will mean several million dollars more for flood control and new state parks, Secretary Maurice K. Goddard of the State Forests and Waters Department said Tuesday.

Goddard said the decision was "one of the most important affecting Pennsylvania land owners in a long time."

Its immediate effect, he added, is to release $1,167,678 tied up since December, 1958, in a legal battle over income from gas obtained from 3,500 acres of state forest land in Clearfield County. This was the case decided for the Commonwealth Monday by the high court.

Similar Situation
"There are other state forest tracts where a similar situation prevails and we can expect additional revenue from them," Goddard said at a press conference. "In addition, many thousands of acres of state forest under which we held no mineral rights may now be opened to oil and gas exploration and development."

"I therefore anticipate an upswing in the revenues in our oil and gas program. Under Act 256 of 1955, this money is used for the construction of flood control projects and new state parks. We will naturally be able to move ahead a little faster on some of these projects as a result."

The court decision revolved around the question whether mineral rights include oil and gas in land purchased. The state owns "considerable acreage"—Goddard did not know the exact amount—of land where the prior owner resolved the rights to "coal, clay, limestone, iron ore and other minerals."

The term "other minerals" does not include oil and gas, the court ruled.

Reluctant
"Naturally, we have been reluctant to develop oil and gas under these lands because of the uncertainty about who owns them," Goddard said.

"Four separate private interests and the Commonwealth claimed the right to oil and gas under the land."

Suggestions For Easter Lily Care
HERE ARE some suggestions to help keep your Easter Lily as long as possible. First of all, make sure your lily gets plenty of sunlight. For best results, the plant should be kept in a cool room of the home. This cool temperature is a great aid to helping maintain the blooms. Moisture is important for any plant, but your lily requires less than most. Water it only when the soil surface is dry.

As soon as the flowers die they should be removed, however, this does not mean that the plant should be discarded. Your Easter Lily will bloom again if properly cared for.

Should Be Transplanted
The flower should be transplanted outdoors in early June when the soil becomes warm. Plant it in a warm sunny location and your plant may bloom again this fall.

When cool weather begins next fall, apply a mulch and your flower should be safe for the winter. An evergreen or hay mulch is satisfactory.

For indoor culture, remove the bulb from the pot after the plant has turned brown and store it in a cool, moist place. This can later be repotted in fresh soil and forced to bloom. However, because this bulb is not as easy to force as other Spring bulbs, it may be better for you to consider outdoor planting.
